A new season of spring sports is fast approaching, and with it come the return of the boys tennis team. Coached by Tim Ungericht, the team has many experienced players returning this year. These athletes include juniors Griffin West, Sam Ritze, Ryan Goettemoeller and sophomores Sean Toner and Elias Bezy. New team members are junior Michael Wesner, sophomore Cole Kramer, and Freshmen Danny Lins and Elijah Jock.

The team is hoping to beat their 5-10 record from last year, as well as move on to the district tournament. Head coach Ungericht has gained 3 seasons of Lehman coaching experience since he started in the fall of 2015. He has high expectations for the 5 returning lettermen and the incoming players. "This is the deepest, most experienced team I have had as a coach," Mr. Ungericht said. "We have to provide the leadership this team needs to be successful." Assisting Coach Ungericht is tennis player and Lehman parent Mike Ritze.

The whole team is excited to make new friendships while they improve their games. The Lehman community wishes them luck with their season.

The Patient Advocates by Kiera Burns

The Lenten season is the perfect time for giving and sacrificing for the betterment of the community. Believing in this philosophy, the Lehman Teen Leadership Corps is sponsoring a charity drive for Wilson Health. They are asking students to donate new children's toys such as coloring books, crayons, and stickers. These items will be donated for the waiting rooms to keep children occupied and happy while waiting in the hospital. During the week of the April 13 - 17, the Teen Leadership Corps offered a breakfast for classes in return for monetary donations and toy collections.

This is the first time Lehman has paired up with Wilson Health under the branch called, "The Patient Advocates." This toy drive will run throughout the entire Lenten season.
